

A saviour for many
An ominous silhouette of a human started barging through the door to an abandoned train. Hiding under the fifth row of seats we watched in anticipation.
What if we were revealed? Sweat dripping like a watergull the old man glared at the door, I didn't know
if he would be able to move.

Instantaneously, the man smashed the window of the door and lept through it, eyeing out all the hiding places.
Gradually nearing us. Then he stopped.
The stenchy man darted out of the window and up the marble staircase.
After all of this, I wondered how I got here in the first place.

Just this morning, I was happily

having my Sunday sleep. Then my mom told me to go and buy some carrots for the carrot cake. "Wake up Billy," ^{screamed} ~~screamed~~ mum. So I got my clothes on and stepped outside. Dawdling, I counted the money and found there wasn't enough. Just as I was about to turn back I remembered the broken down train ought to have some money on it. Peering through the rust metal gates, I noticed the lock was open and to tattered fifty pound notes.

Cautiously, I opened the rusty brown gates and stepped onto the electric broken down train. To my surprise I found a man with ripped clothes, on the floor. He just told me he was Jeff Bezos - the richest man in the world - then we heard it. The smashing of the window.

We needed to find another way out but there was only one way. I was going to give up when Jeff found a hatch in the roof. "Maybe we can crawl through here," stated Jeff. Scuttling up the roof we found nothing but a ~~h~~ hammer. I smashed the window at the back of the train and we ran through the other set of gates. Sprinting past taxis, Jeff questioned^{arrogant} "Should we go to my ^{luxurious} mansion?" "Yes" I shouted, feeling excited.

Finally, we reached his mansion. Then, he told me to phone my mom so I did but there was no signal. Two burly men entered the room and under strict ~~and~~ orders went to find my mom. A few minutes later, she came back and gave me an enormous hug. The next day and I'm in the news paper with a brand new cure. As a saviour for many!

By James, 5K.