

Lightning crackled and thunder roared as ash grey mist surrounded the heath. The orange, purple evening sky faded into an atremorous night. As this occurred, owls started to hoot, wolves began to howl, and the wind whispered. A fork of lightning whipped the sky and ~~rained~~ rain stirred. The crooked trees housed the wicked, ebony crows that croaked in the darkness. Macbeth and Banquo stumbled to the ~~for~~ forest of full of darkness.

Macbeth couldn't see through the ebony shadows of the lifeless trees, then a flash of lightning forked the starless night sky and illuminated the forest to then reveal the hideous creatures. "All hail Macbeth Thane of Cawdor," they croaked as they circled Macbeth. "All hail Macbeth who shall be king hereafter. Macbeth gripped the leather handle of his silver longsword but it was too late the witches had backed into the vague mist. Through the trees and as the ghost-like mist hooves ^{clattered} and a saddle creaked slowly but surely a rider emerged with a letter from King Duncan for Macbeth. The letter read that Macbeth was to be Thane of Cawdor. Straight after he ^{penned a letter to his wife.}

"Macbeth, Macbeth," Lady Macbeth shouted. "It is this prophecy to become true that you shall be king!"

"I don't know but I do know I am Thane of Cawdor." Macbeth reassured Lady Macbeth. All of a sudden Lady Macbeth had remembered of her plan and began to tell her husband.

"How dare you try ^{and} manipulate me to commit such a terrible scheme!" Macbeth snapped back.

Suddenly, Lady Macbeth began to circle Macbeth.

"Think of how much money you will gain, think of the money, think the power, think of me." She sneered. "NO!" Macbeth exclaimed with anger. ^{great repetition}

"Fine, then come to me when your doubts have disappeared." Lady Macbeth replied as she stormed away. Macbeth paced around the castle, fighting against his doubts. Eventually he made his final decision. Macbeth and his wife discussed the devilish plan that they ^{are going to} shall commit.

LO to retell the ending to 'Macbeth' (hot writing task) - show me what you've learned!

Writer's toolkit:

Describe the characters and settings using ambitious adjectives	Use 'ed' openers to convey character feelings	Use fronted adverbials to create cohesion.
Show how the characters are feeling through their actions.	Use accurately punctuated speech to advance your story.	Use paragraphs for changes of time, place, topic or person (including new speaker=new line)
Choose more interesting synonyms for 'said'	Use colons or dashes to separate clauses in sentences.	Use figurative language - similes, metaphors and personification.

Act 4	- Macbeth visits the witches, who give him 3 prophecies - Macduff's family are executed - Lady Macbeth dies
Act 5	- Macbeth and Macduff's armies meet in battle - Macbeth is killed and Malcolm becomes king

~~Macbeth sat in his throne room, his finger tapped rapidly against the golden armrest~~

Macbeth threw the knife daggers into Duncan's heart. ³⁰ The ^{crime} was committed, the king was dead.

The early morning ¹⁶ was quiet - no birds were singing, no people were nattering among themselves, ~~nothing~~ nothing, silence. Macduff strolled down the candle ²⁴-lit corridors

^{the} of Castle Macduff got to Duncan's chamber... the door was unlocked... ²⁸ it creaked open. "Ww... what!" Macduff stuttered, confused and scared. crimson blood was plastered on the cotton white sheets of Duncan's bed.

"Cowered... show yourself!" Macduff howled throughout the castle, he informed and showed the murder to the Macbeths. "Look,!" Lady Macbeth shouted all their heads jolted to what she pointed at, "the guards have blood ²⁴-stained daggers they committed the crime of murder!" Startled, the guards awoke but they were too late ³ Macbeth beheaded both with one straight cut.

Lady Macbeth began speaking "They were ordered by Duncan's sons Malcolm and Donalbain."

The conversation was heard by Malcolm from eaving in he rushed down a spiral staircase to meet his brother, Donalbain, waiting for him.

Malcolm uttered "We've been framed for ~~to~~ our father's death." Donalbain's eyes widened at the thought of being executed for nothing that he did.

"Brother, why don't we run. I'll run to England you can sail to mainland Ireland." Malcolm mumbled.

Without a doubt & Donaldbain agreed to the plan that shadowy night the fled from home.

TL2 Great reflectiveness.
