

IN OR OUT?!

Since David Cameron has been elected to be the Prime Minister, there has been much discussion on whether or not the United Kingdom should leave or stay in the EU. David Cameron promised that if he became the Prime Minister the adults of the UK would be able to vote. Therefore the United Kingdom will be voting on the 23rd of June 2016.

One of the reasons why many people think the United Kingdom should stay in the EU is because it is easier to travel, trade and get a job in a different country. This would be a new opportunity to many UK citizens who want to get a much better job in a different country and nobody could tell us that we are not allowed.

On the other hand, a reason why some people think we should leave the EU is that we could make more decisions as an individual country and we can decide whether or not we want refugees to come into our country, whereas if we stayed in the E.U then there might be many disagreements as a big group.

However, another one of the many reasons why people think we should stay in the EU is less money to buy cars to travel but if we leave it will be very expensive to buy cars and go on Holiday. This would be beneficial due to how popular cars are today. Also going on Holiday is popular so it would be less money. In addition it would be easier to transport the cars to the uk if we were in the EU.

The last reason why the U.K should leave the EU is because to be a part of this group we have to pay and therefore if we left then that would mean we wouldn't have to pay taxes.

After weighing out both sides of the story we believe that we should leave the EU because it will be much cheaper and people can't enter into our country without permission.
